

The Protection of Built Heritage in Hong Kong

by

Prof. Steven Gallagher,
Professor of Practice in Law,
Associate Dean (Teaching & Learning),
The Faculty of Law,
The Chinese University of Hong Kong

Steven Gallagher was awarded a first class LL.B. He was called to the Bar of England and Wales in 2006. Steven teaches the equity and trusts courses for undergraduate and postgraduate students. Steven also teaches a course on art, antiquities, cultural heritage and the law on the LLM programme. Steven has presented continuing professional development courses for solicitors in Hong Kong on many topics associated with equity. Steven's research interests include equity and the law of trusts, cultural heritage law, legal history and law and technology.

This 3-hour seminar will provide an introduction to the law which may protect built heritage in Hong Kong. The seminar will begin by considering what is meant by the term "cultural heritage" and then what is meant by and may be built heritage in Hong Kong. The seminar will then consider the law which may protect this built heritage in Hong Kong and how it developed. The seminar considers the issues and controversies that have risen with regard to the loss and protection of built heritage in Hong Kong under the colonial and post-colonial governments. Issues that will be considered included the development of the Antiquities and Monuments Ordinance and its effect, Queen's Pier, Ho Tung Gardens, and the success of public pressure in this area of government policy.

Some of the topics considered in this seminar will be:

- What is cultural heritage?
- What is built heritage in Hong Kong?
- What laws may protect built heritage in Hong Kong?
- How have these laws developed?
- Are these laws effective?
- The Queen's Pier;
- Ho Tung Gardens;
- The Queen's Pier;
- The future for the protection of built heritage in Hong Kong.
